FEATURE STORY

Canadian Performance Futurity has a Strong Start in 2006

By Barbara Daley

When the Canadian Performance Futurity embarked on its inaugural competition year, as planned, it offered a class in each of the three disciplines of Hunter, Jumper and Dressage. These were held in three Zones across Canada: Pacific, Prairie and Eastern. This first year offered classes to four-year-old horses only. In 2007, horses from the same age group will graduate to a second class for five-year-olds, while the younger generation will debut in the four-year-old class.

A key draw to the program is the prize money, with $3,000 per class in 2006, and winnings divided between owners and breeders. This is funded largely by nominations. Breed specific bonuses were also awarded by CWHBA to top Canadian Warmblood horses, with proceeds from their annual Stallion Service Auction.

Support from the dedicated show venues, which were selected as having a high standard of competition and very good attendance, was well received. This included Cornerstone Farms Dressage Show, Amberlea Meadows Dressage Show, Alberta Hunter Horse Society Show, Tournament of Champions and Thunderbird Show Park.

Participation of horses was very good with good results. It was interesting to note the regional breeding influences that were predominate in many of the successful competitors. Performance strengths were consistent with the underlying pedigrees. Basic credentials required at an entry level of competition, such as good movement and temperament, meant many horses were able to cross enter disciplines with success. The foundation of good breeding was supported with a high standard for training and preparation. Many owners chose to establish alliances with professional trainers and riders to ensure the horses would be prepared for the show ring.

2006 represented a very positive beginning for the Canadian Performance Futurity. It is hoped the program will provide owners and breeders of Canadian bred horses with a specific goal of excellence in performance. The partnerships established will provide the Canadian breeding industry with the added momentum it needs.

Perhaps, over time we will come to see that the stage has been set for a truly Canadian team in the international arenas.
